FIRED ON A SCHOONER

An American Vessel's Experience in Cuban Waters.

CARRIE E. LANE, CAPTAIN QUICK.

Two Shots Fired on the Schooner by a Spanish Gunboat—The Affair Not Reported to Washington—Spain Taking Severe Measures to Suppress the Insurrection.

BREAKWATER, Del., July 25.—Captain Quick of the American schooner Carrie E. Lane, upon her arrival here last night, had a tale to tell about a thrilling encounter in Cuban waters with a Spanish gunboat. Two shots were fired at the Lane by the man-of-war, and one of the schooner's crew narrowly escaped being killed by one of them. The vessel was made to heave to and give an account of herself before being allowed to proceed.

The schooner was off Cape Antonio and making good time before a stiff breeze, when, on the 14th inst., she sighted a steamer flying the Spanish flag, following her. Captain Quick at first paid no attention to the stranger, but after an hour or so noticed that she was signaling him to stop. He then examined her more closely, but could only make out that she looked like a large tugboat, such as usually are in the harbor about Philadelphia, New York and other American seaports.

While he was making up his mind what course to pursue a puff of smoke curled up over the steamer's port bow, and a round shot whistled uncomfortably close to the schooner's main mast and plunged into the water on the lee quarter. Captain Quick gave an order to haul in sail and bring the vessel too, and while this was being done one of the crew ran out on the bowsprit. As he stood there the gun on the Spanish warship boomed again and another shot sped on its way toward the American craft, this time coming so close to her that the sailor on the bowsprit saw he distinctly felt the wind caused by its rapid flight.

The Lane soon came to a dead stop and the gunboat drew up under her quarter. A boat was lowered and four Spanish marines, under the command of a lieutenant in the Spanish navy, came aboard. They were fully armed and their leader very civilly lifted his hat and demanded to know from what port the Lane had sailed and whether she was bound. Captain Quick gave the required information and produced his clearance papers in proof of his assertions. No further search was made and the vessel was permitted to continue on her course without further molestation.

Captain Quick says that he could not see the name of the gunboat, although he tried to do so, and can give no further description of her than that she resembled an American tugboat. He adds that after the first shot was fired at the Lane he caused the stars and stripes to be hoisted at the peak, but the only response the Spaniards made was a second shot. The gunboat did not hoist her colors until after the first shot was fired.

As soon as Captain Quick reached here last night he wired his agents in Philadelphia and will await advices from them before determining upon what course to pursue in regard to what he considers an outrage. He thinks the Lane must have been mistaken for a filibustering craft, but insists that there is nothing in her appearance to justify this belief. Besides the vessel is well known to West Indian waters.

NOT REPORTED TO WASHINGTON.

It is Thought That the Spanish Officer Did Not Exceed His Authority.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The government officials here have received no information in regard to the firing on the schooner Carrie E. Lane by a Spanish war vessel off Cape Antonio. The general opinion of naval officers who read the report of the affair as described by Captain Quick is that the Spaniard did not exceed his authority in overhauling the schooner, if the latter was in the territory of Cuba.

The Spanish government, it is held, is menaced by the danger of the landing of filibustering expeditions on the Cuban coast, and in exerting itself to prevent such landing has a right to overhaul and learn the character of any vessel within the three-mile limit that might be suspected of having on board those enterprising designs against the government or a cargo intended for the insurgents.

As Captain Quick's story shows he paid no attention to the man-of-war for an hour or more, this, it is said, probably caused the captain of the latter to believe that the schooner was engaged in filibustering methods, and prompted him to take decisive action in preventing her escape. One naval officer with whom a reporter talked was emphatic in his declaration that the captain of the man-of-war was perfectly justified in what he had done, assuming, of course, that the schooner was within the territorial limits of Cuba. It was the business of the Spanish government to intercept any vessel that might be used by the insurgents.

The right of a cruiser of one nation to know the national character of any strange ship she may meet at sea is sustained by writers on international law. It is held that the party making the inquiry make himself fully known in some way before he can lawfully demand such knowledge from the other vessel. If this be refused, it is held that the inquiring vessel may fire a blank shot, and in case of further delay, a shoted gun may be fired across the bows of the delinquent by way of positive summons. Any measure beyond the warning shot, which the commander of an armed ship may take, for the purpose of ascertaining the nationality of another vessel, must be at his peril.

If any report of the affair be made to the state department, some steps will likely be taken by this government should the circumstances seem to warrant it. If the statement of Captain Quick that a solid shot was first fired directly at his vessel, is sustained, it may make his case a more serious one.

SEVERE MEASURES.

Spanish Officials in Cuba Trying to Check the Insurrection.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Some idea of the severity of the measures which the Spanish officials in Cuba have been obliged to adopt to check the spread of the insurrection may be gathered from the following proclamation issued by the governor of the province of Santa Clara, a copy of which has been transmitted to the state department by J. J. Casanueva, vice consul at Cienfuegos.

D. Augustin Lague Y. Ceca, brigadier general governor of the province of Santa Clara:

To the inhabitants of the same:

The savagery of those who apply the torch, who steal and murder under the cry of "Vive Cuba Libre," and to the propagators who disgrace the Cuban people, recruiting partisans for the hordes commanded by incendiaries and highwaymen, compel me, with a most painful feeling, to adopt energetic measures which I frankly confess shall be carried out to the extreme if the noble war made by our valiant army is responded to by murder and pillage.

For the present I decree the following edict:

Article 1.—Every countryman on entering or leaving the towns shall be provided with his personal certificate and with evidence of his ownership of the house he may be riding, and shall exhibit them to any agent of the government that might demand them.

Article 2.—It is prohibited to travel in the country or in the outskirts of the town from sunset to sunrise, with the understanding that the patrols and forces in operation will detain and put at bay all persons infringing upon this rule who are not provided with the proper permit, which shall be issued to them by the military of the demarcation of which they are residents.

Article 3.—All permits to carry arms, which are not countersigned by the military governor's office are null and void. Residents in the country who are in possession of any kind of arms shall deposit them within the period of 10 days with the posts of the civil guard or detachments nearest to their abodes, the chiefs of which shall issue them a proper voucher.

Article 4.—It is only for agricultural work that working "machetes" may be kept in their residences, but it is absolutely prohibited to carry the same outside of their respective landed property.

Article 5.—Those infringing these orders, as well as the agitators of opinion and those who abet and harbor them, shall be indicted for the crime of rebellion, tried in accordance with the code of justice and punished with all the severity of the military laws.

Article 6.—The municipal mayors and mayors of circumscriptions shall publish widely this edict, and the said authorities, as well as all civil and military authorities of this province, I hold responsible for its full and punctual observance.

AUGUSTIN LUGUE.

SPANISH TROOPS MARCHING.

Preparations Being Made for a Big Battle in the Near Future.

MADRID, July 25.—Official advice received here from Havana announce that a gunboat has arrived at Santiago de Cuba from Manzanillo, bringing information that two columns of Spanish troops, one under General Navarro and the other under Colonel Alvarado, commanded jointly by General La Chambré, and comprising 4,000 infantry, 300 cavalry and three guns, arrived on Sunday last at Nuevitas, the port of Puerto Principe.

The dispatches add that the town of Bayamo, in the province of Santiago de Cuba, where Captain General Martínez de Campos is assembling troops, has been provided with fresh stores of ammunition and provisions.

As the reinforcements approached Bayamo, Micoero retired to the country. Previously he attempted an attack, which was without result.

ARMS TRANSFERRED AT SEA.

FERNANDINA, Fla., July 25.—The two-masted schooner yachts Emma B. and Nancy Lass, with two Cuban patriots and a quantity of arms and ammunition, left this port yesterday. Six miles off the coast the yachts met the schooner Carrie E. Buckman, which sailed from King's ferry two days ago bound for the island of Curacao, off the northern coast of Venezuela. The yachts remained alongside the Buckman long enough to transfer the passengers, arms and ammunition, which the Buckman will take to Cuba. The yachts left here ostensibly for the snapper fishing banks. They have not yet returned. The transfer was witnessed by Harbor Master Lohman through a marine glass.

DIED FOR GALLANTRY.

ERIE, Pa., July 25.—George Stranahan, a Buffalo medical student, died as the result of a bicycle accident. The young man, to avoid colliding with an awkward young woman cyclist, threw himself, and received a shock which resulted in cerebral hemorrhage.

CROSS IN GERMANY.

BERLIN, July 25.—Official reports show that the condition of winter wheat, potatoes, clover and hay is good, while summer wheat, winter and summer rye, barley and oats is medium.

HOLMES WILL HANG

More Evidence That He Is a Murderer.

A HUMAN SKELETON FOUND.

Dug Up From the Basement of His Chicago House—The Building Will Be Entirely Torn Down—Holmes Interviewed. He Tries to Explain Some of the Recent Disclosures.

CHICAGO, July 25.—What seemed beyond a doubt to be portions of a human skeleton, was found yesterday in the basement of H. H. Holmes' building in Sixty-third street. The bones were viewed by a number of detectives and workmen, all of whom pronounced them a portion of a human backbone.

The bones were packed in damp earth which had been mixed with quicklime. Several ribs were found, and with them what resembled a bit of jaw with two teeth attached. A portion of a lady's jacket with a large puffed sleeve lay with the bones, and on the cloth was a bunch of hair, which, however, was so badly discolored that its original shade could not be determined.

Dr. Charles North, to whom the bones were submitted for examination, pronounced them portions of a human skeleton. He had not applied chemical tests, he said, but after a superficial examination he had no doubt that they were human bones.

The find was mysterious as neither the skull nor any of the leg bones were found with the ribs and bits of vertebrae. A small vial containing a peculiar looking fluid was found with the skeleton, but its nature could not be determined without tests and it was accordingly sent to a chemist for analysis.

The workmen continuing the search in another portion of this central basement found a second bed of quick lime. In this, just before their labors ended for the day, they discovered one of the metacarpal bones of a human body. They expect to uncover other bodies buried in this charnel house of Eugenewood.

The body found early in the day is supposed to that of Pearl Conner, the daughter of John L. Conner, former wife of C. I. Conner, once of Muscatine, Ia., later at 99 Madison street, this city. Both mother and child have been missing since the summer of 1892. The woman was betrayed by Holmes, her husband, securing a divorce from her. She lived with Holmes at the castle and some time in July or August, 1892, she and the child disappeared. That it was the body of the child found Tuesday there can be but little question.

As the result of the finding of a human skeleton, believed to be that of little Gertrude Conner, in the subcellar at the Holmes house at 701 Sixty-third street yesterday, Chief Badenoch has decided to hold Joseph C. Owens and Patrick Quinlan, the two juniorors of the building, for further investigation. The chief of police came to the conclusion to hold the men after an examination which was conducted in his office and which lasted nearly five hours.

From their answers to questions Chief Badenoch believes both men have guilty knowledge of the criminal operations of the man Holmes, and the finding of the bones now leaves no doubt that in addition to his known swinging operations Holmes is also guilty of murder in Chicago.

As a result of the discovery of the bones yesterday another warrant for the arrest of Holmes will be sworn out in Chicago. A. Minter, the nephew of Julia L. Conner, who swore out the warrant Tuesday for Holmes on the charge of murdering his aunt, will now take out a second warrant charging him with the murder of the little girl Pearl. Active steps were also taken yesterday to secure warrants on the charge of murdering the Williams sisters. The hunt is now on, not to end until Holmes is either taken to Toronto or brought to the city of Toronto on or about the 25th of October, 1894.

After the return of the verdict the coroner made out a warrant for the arrest of Holmes. The warrant will be placed in the hands of the attorney general and the necessary papers will be made out, demanding Holmes' extradition.

many persons and buried their bones indiscriminately in every nook and corner I could find throughout the country. Quite a while ago I made a statement to the Philadelphia authorities that they were liable to find human bones in many different places all over the continent. I then frankly admitted that I had been engaged in a number of insurance swindles which did not pay out. One of these was for a $40,000 policy and had to be abandoned in an embryonic state because the officers of the company became suspicious.

"The idea was to have the bodies of a woman and boy found in their home, and afterward the corpse of a man with a bullet in his head, to make it appear a case of murder and suicide. I got bodies from a graveyard to represent the wife and son, but the alleged husband's body had not been procured when the insurance agents learned of the scheme and the bodies had to be disposed of the best way I could. I had them embalmed and put in trunks, which were sent to a cold storage warehouse. Before my preparations could be completed, however, the manager of the storage house notified me to take the trunks away or he would sell the contents. I did so, and the bodies were buried in separate places. Where they are the police must find out."

Holmes ridiculed the theory that a subterranean tank found in the Chicago establishment had been used for the secretion of his victims' corpses, and said that it had served as nothing more harmful than a vat for illuminating oil used on the premises. The dumb waiter was accounted for by the fact that during the world's fair there had been a restaurant on one of the upper floors of the building.

In the transfer of properties between him and Minnie Williams, Holmes added, in which he had secured the Fort Worth property, a note in the shape of a mortgage was given by Minnie Williams, and endorsed "Horace A. Williams" who was supposed to be her brother. She never had a brother, however, and the endorser was Holmes himself.

HOLMES INDICTED FOR MURDER. Canadian Authorities Will Demand His Extradition.

TORONTO, July 25.—The adjourned inquiry on the body of Alice Pietzel was concluded last night. There was very little evidence submitted and nothing of a new or startling character. The coroner charged very strongly against H. H. Holmes, and after 10 minutes absence the jury brought in a verdict against Holmes, alias Mudgett, alias Howard, of murdering Alice Pietzel in the city of Toronto on or about the 25th day of October, 1894.

After the return of the verdict the coroner made out a warrant for the arrest of Holmes. The warrant will be placed in the hands of the attorney general and the necessary papers will be made out, demanding Holmes' extradition.

FAILED TO OPEN THE SAFE.

The Train Robbers Did Not Get the Big Package of Money.

TOLEDO, July 25.—Further particulars of the train robbery on the L. S. & M. S. road received here say there were 200 passengers aboard the train. The robbers drove back all who attempted to get out, while four of the robbers went to the express car. During the attempted safe blowing the robbers seemed afraid of a rescue. For the last explosion a terrific charge was used. The steel chest did not yield, but the car was raised from the track, the sides bulged out and the three-inch plank flooring shattered. There were nine in the party. They were jostled with the train crew, saying all were disappointed at the failure but would call again before the snow flies.

While the explosions were taking place the firemen slipped away, but had gone only a few rods when the robbers gave up. He was called back and proceeded with the train. The obstruction on the track was found to consist of ties.

Reece is an abandoned side-track in a hollow, with dense woods on each side. Years ago an organized gang of horse thieves operated in the vicinity, and was broken up only by vigilantes who hung some of the leaders. Many of the same band are said to still reside there. It is unofficially stated that the through freight contained $75,000 in gold.

The amount of money stolen is not known, but it is believed to be less than $1,000.

Five suspects were landed in the county jail at Wanseeon yesterday in the matter of the train hold-up. They refuse to give their names.

MAIL CLERK ARRESTED.

LOUISVILLE, July 25.—W. F. Clarke, mail clerk on the St. Louis and Eastern railroad between Louisville and St. Louis, was arrested here last night for robbing the mails by Inspector Salmon of Cincinnati. Clarke was caught by decoy letters. When arrested the money contained in the decoys was found on him. He denies his guilt and says he won the money playing poker in St. Louis.

SHOT HIS WIFE.

ST. LOUIS, July 25.—George A. Reed, a painter, shot and killed his wife yesterday as the result of jealous rage. The murderer was arrested. He said his wife shot out all night, and on her return in the morning he asked her where she had been. An evasive answer was given, and a quarrel resulted when he taxed her with being untrue to his statements.

HIS BRAIN FEVER.

BUENA VISTA, O., July 25.—Mrs. Sarah Vernice, who recently tried to suicide by drinking carbolic acid, now has brain fever, and it is feared she will lose her mind.

WAR WITH INDIANS

Battle Imminent Between Settlers and Redskins.

TROOPS SENT TO THE SCENE.

It is Feared That They Will Be Too Late as They Have a Three Days' March Before Them—Governor Richards Fully Advised of the Situation by Adjutant General Stitzer.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 25.—Governor Richards received a telegram yesterday evening from the assistant secretary of the interior notifying him that Brigadier General Coppinger had been ordered to proceed to the scene of the Indian troubles and order such movement of troops as may be necessary to prevent a conflict between the Indians and settlers.

Later the governor was advised by General Coppinger that four troops of cavalry had been ordered from Fort Robinson, Neb., to proceed to the Jackson's Hole country to protect the settlers. As it will require at least two or three days to reach Jackson's Hole with these troops, a battle between whites and Indians may be fought before they can be of service.

Adjutant General Stitzer of the state militia wired yesterday from Market Lake, Idaho, as follows: "I met an Indian captain of police in Teter Basin yesterday with 35 horses, hurrying out with all possible speed. I saw him again at 11 o'clock last night. He says he can not control the Indians, who will soon be fighting."

A later dispatch from General Stitzer says: "The Indians are in force at the junction of Granite creek and Fall river. All passes in the Jackson Hole are now guarded by the Indians. Captain Smith, who has just come in wounded in the right breast by Indians. Prospectors are driven from the mountains. Pickets are guarding the various passes. Horses are equipped ready to mount and everybody armed to the teeth."

There are in the Jackson's Hole settlement 65 men capable of bearing arms, 35 women and 40 children. All of these are gathered at the settlement of Marysville, situated between Gros Ventre and Little Gros Ventre rivers. It is possible reinforcements from settlements east of the headwaters of the Big Wind river and from the Mormons from the south have reached them in response to couriers sent out during the last week, asking for aid.

It is estimated by the state authorities that no less than 200 Indians are surrounding the settlement. If the whites have sufficient ammunition it is confidently expected they can stand the Indians until troops come to their aid.

Fair, warmer weather; south-westerly winds.

In his article in the August Forum on "The Bond-Syndicate; Its Excellent Work," A. B. Hepburn says:

We never appreciate dangers escaped, and we cannot, therefore, expect the business interests of this country to realize the obligations they owe to the bond syndicate for protecting them from a panic and commercial crash, upon whose brink they were trembling. Various and virulent criticisms will be heaped upon the President on account of this bond contract, but surely no act of his administration is entitled to higher praise.

COLONEL BRADLEY expresses a willingness to meet General Hardin on the stump in the present campaign, but late developments indicate that the Republicans are scheming to prevent any joint debate between their Boss and the Democratic nominee. They now say Mr. Pettit, the Populist nominee, ought to be permitted to take part in any joint discussion. Well, if Boss Bradley is so awfully anxious to talk against Tom Pettit, the Democrats won't interfere. But Mr. Bradley is the individual General Hardin is after.

PHENOMENAL

Increase in the Steel Industry at Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURG, PENN., July 21.—Notwithstanding the scorching weather the iron and steel mills of this section are being run night and day. Heretofore they closed down in July to overhaul machinery and make improvements. Now the mills are so busy they cannot close except when it becomes absolutely necessary by accidents.

The revival in business all over the country is still compared to the phenomenal boom in this manufacturing section. Within the past week two mills that have been idle for several years were leased to Eastern people and will be started as soon as they can be made ready.

The greatest boom is in steel billets, upon which the steel business is based. All the mills are now being worked their capacity and cannot fill the orders ordered. Local buyers are compelled to go to Philadelphia mills for billets, which they always bought in this city. No orders are being taken for immediate delivery and purchasers are glad to get their goods by September. Prices are advancing. They are now within 50 cents per ton of what they were before the panic.

By the settlement of old contracts during the week the clearances at Pittsburgh banks were swelled to nearly $15,000,000. The product of the Carnegie mills at Braddock, where steel rails and billets are the chief products, is estimated at $50,000 per day.

There is a scarcity of inside mill labor. One reason for this is the extreme heat. The experienced mill men are not used to working in the hot months, but many are glad to risk their lives because of being idle so long.

ADVANCES OF ELECTRICITY.

It Will Supplant Steam on Many Short Railroads Before the Century is Ended.

[Cincinnati Tribune]

Electric locomotives are coming into general use. Those now in active service in Baltimore weigh ninety-six tons each and are hauling heavily loaded trains through that city at a fair rate of speed. A short branch of the Old Colony road in Massachusetts is now equipped and in running order, with electricity as the motive power. One of the motors hauls 50 tons of freight at a speed of twenty-five miles an hour, and the test was made over average curves and a grade of thirty-four feet to the mile.

Electricity will supplant steam on many of the short roads in the country before the century is ended. Its great success on many suburban roads has established it in the opinion of railroad men who hope to utilize it soon on branch roads.

There is one hindering element in the situation as it stands today. Electrical science has made such rapid strides in the last decade that the inventors of yesterday are "has-beens" today. Millions may be spent for motors this year. A year hence they will be looked upon as antiquated and almost worthless. For this reason railroad men will go slow.

WILL BE RELAID.

The C. and O. Will Place Heavier Rails on the Cincinnati Division—The Work Soon to be Commenced.

The work of removing the lightweight rails on the Cincinnati division of the C. and O. will soon begin, says the Portsmouth Tribune.

Up in the mountains on the Eastern division, 100-pound rails are taking the place of the light ones. These 100-pound rails are made necessary by the heavy tonnage carried over the road and the topography of the country.

The new rails which are to be laid on the Cincinnati division are seventy-five pounds weight, and it is said they will answer the purpose of the 100-pound rails on the Eastern division, because the Western division of the road-bed is very solid and has few curves between Cincinnati and Huntington. In fact the curves do not run much over three degrees.

The new rails will enable the C. and O. "flyers" which run out of Cincinnati to reach Huntington in three hours and fifteen minutes. The distance is one hundred and sixty-three miles, and is now made in about four hours and nine minutes. The shortening of the time approximately an hour is an important thing in the road's favor.

A Sad Case.

Mrs. William Brown, who fell in a grate and was so badly burned last spring, was again taken to the hospital at Covington yesterday afternoon. She had been at home some time, but the burns on her scalp had not entirely healed.

A few days ago she fell, striking on her head and badly injuring herself. The case is a sad one and is rendered all the more so, by the fact that her five-months-old child is dangerously ill with whooping-cough. Mr. Brown depends upon his daily labor for the support of his family, and finds it difficult to get any one to nurse and care for the child.

THE COLONELS,

Louisville's League Team, Want to Play Maysville—Asheville Downed Yesterday.

The Maysvilles will probably have a chance to defeat another one of the League teams at an early day.

The Louisvilles, better known as the Colonels, want to play here on Thursday, August 1st. Their manager wired to that effect yesterday afternoon and negotiations are now pending. The probability is that they will be accommodated.

The Colonels didn't play very good ball at the opening of the season, but lately they have defeated several of the leading clubs.

MAYSVILLE 8; ASHEVILLE 6.

Yesterday's game at Asheville resulted in a victory for the Maysvilles, the score standing 8 to 6.

In the opening game at Asheville Maysville made seven runs in the first inning. Asheville then kicked on her own umpire, and put in a new man. He succeeded in downing Maysville, 10 to 8.

The recent visit of the Maysvilles to Knoxville was a big thing for the Tennessee "Indians" in more than one way. A friend writes that interest in the National game had not been running very high in Knoxville previous to the coming of the Kentuckians. Moffett, the manager of the "Indians," had spent about all he could rake up getting his team together and fitting up his park. Knoxvillians didn't seem to appreciate his efforts and it looked like Moffett was in a great big hole. The four games with the Maysvillians changed the outlook wonderfully, however. Knoxvillians looked upon Captain McGann and his sluggers as the champion amateurs of the United States. The defeat Maysville administered to two League teams had given our boys a great reputation, and when Moffett and his club took three games out of the four from the Kentuckians, well, Knoxville simply went wild. Financially the games were a success. Moffett is now on Easy street, and Knoxville is base ball crazy.

The Maysvilles will stop at Frankfort on their return trip and play there next Monday and Tuesday.

Rieman and Tenley were in the points for Maysville yesterday; Coller, Cheitzberg and Oldham for Asheville.

Dick Smith, Bob Poage and Pat Reiman, of the Huntington team, aided the Vancburg team in defeating the West Unions the other day.

The Findlay (O.) team wants to tackle Maysville, but will hardly be accommodated. It's a mixed aggregation as far as color is considered.

The Maysvilles play at Knoxville tomorrow and Saturday. A purse to the one making the most home runs in these two games wouldn't be a bad idea. Hasn't Maysville any "silver bouquets?" The left field fence of the Knoxville park is closer to the home plate than the right field fence is at the Maysville park. This explains why so many balls were hit out of the field at Knoxville last week.

The BULLETIN Tuesday printed very nearly two columns about the Saturday game at Knoxville, showing the people how it happened. The people don't want to know how it happened. It is enough to know that it really did happen.—Public Ledger.

You're off your base, Jack. The people want to know just how it happened.

Ashland News: "Snehn base ball team as Maysville has, is a big advertisement for a town, and Maysville, since her defeat of the two league teams, is known to more people than ever before. The sporting columns of the leading papers the country over have been carrying the name more or less for the past four weeks, and no column is more widely or generally read than the sporting column. One of the first steps toward booming a town of the future will be the support of a winning base ball team."

The Knoxville team made five home runs in the fourth game with Maysville. The "Indians" were not only trying to defeat the Maysville boys, but were batting for "silver bouquets." That explains so many home runs. The first man who hit the ball out of the field was thrown a purse containing five big white "wheels" when he reached the home plate; the next fellow got $7.50. That put the "Indians" on their mettle, and the way they slugged the ball was a caution. Maybe the Maysville boys would have made more home runs if they had some "silver bouquets" thrown to them every time they hit the ball out of the lot.

TO SAVE DURANT.

William E. Barrett Says He Committed the Emanuel Church Murders.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., July 25.—In the county jail of Santa Cruz is confined William E. Barrett, who says he murdered Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams in Emanuel church last April. He gave himself up to the chief of police as a dangerous criminal Tuesday night. Yesterday he was discharged as a harmless lunatic. Then he went to the sheriff, to whom he confessed his guilt as perpetrator of the Emanuel church murders. To the district attorney he told a story that at first seemed plausible, but when Barrett went into the details of the crime the inconsistencies of his statements convinced his auditors of his perfect innocence and complete insanity.

Barrett, who was formerly a waiter in a San Francisco restaurant, says he saw Durant and the girls on a street car, and, admiring Miss Lamont and Miss Williams, he bearded the car in the hope of making their acquaintance. The trio angled at Emanuel church, Barrett following. Durant and Miss Lamont entered the church, followed still by Barrett, while Miss Williams waited outside. Barrett says he hid behind a pew. Detecting an odor of escaping gas, Durant went to the belfry to stop the leak. Barrett seized and attempted to assault Miss Lamont. To stifle her cries he choked her, and she dropped to the floor.

To silence Miss Williams, Barrett says he stabbed her with a knife taken from the restaurant. Meanwhile, Durant had been overcome by gas and was so dazed that he did not see Barrett carrying the bodies to the belfry. Barrett says he did not wish Durant to be hanged for his crime and that he was sure he would eventually be found out.

Barrett resembles Durant in personal appearance. He worked here as a waiter, but is periodically dissipated. He persists in his statements despite cross-examination. He will be examined as to his sanity.

Durant's Trial Resumed.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—The trial of Durant for the murder of Blanche Lamont was resumed today. The district attorney presented affidavits stating that Durant can have a fair trial there, and it is expected the motion for change of venue will be denied.

The county jail is besieged by women daily anxious to see Durant and to leave flowers for him. In both cases they are disappointed. The jailors say Durant enjoys his notoriety. He has hitherto paid little attention to religious matters, but is now receiving the visits of a Roman Catholic priest, and say he will embrace that religion. Funds for his defense are said to be supplied by relatives in Canada.

GOVERNOR BROWN.

Comments of the Press on His Withdrawal From the Senatorial Contest.

Glasgow Times: "The withdrawal of Gov. Brown from the Senatorial contest marks the temporary passing from politics of one of the greatest minds and men of the State. Politics is all the loser. When the verdict of history is written, there will be much to command, little to condemn, in all the administration of Gov. Brown. A strong man, a pure man, a profound and brilliant man, he has risen superior to environments that would have overwhelmed a less virile intellectual manhood. With jealous care he has guarded every interest of the people, and a very tower of strength he has proven himself. Dealing out equal and exact justice to all, he has not hesitated to antagonize the strongest existing corporations influences at the call of duty. In all the essential attributes of greatness, Gov. Brown stands with the foremost and greatest of his generation. Retiring by his own preference from public life for a season, the time will come when his State will again demand his services; talent such as his will not rust with keeping. As sure as the sun shines, God prolonging his life and softening the sorrows that are beating like a storm upon him, Gov. John Young Brown will some day be Senator John Young Brown."

Bowling Green Sunday Journal: "The editor of the Sunday Journal admits very frankly that he is a hero worshiper, and chiefest among his heroes is the distinguished Governor of Kentucky. From his boyhood days, when he heard from his father's lips of the terrible slaying given Ben Butler by the then young Congressman from Kentucky, he has ever had the greatest respect and admiration for John Young Brown. Every act of the man's brilliant life has but served to strengthen that feeling. Whether in Congress, as a lawyer, politician, or statesman, he has maintained the highest dignity and exhibited the very finest intellect. Honest, incorruptible, and of distinguished ability, every page of his political life has been printed on the very finest paper in the clearest type, and with indelible ink. As a Governor, his administration has been a magnificent one, and even those who opposed him most bitterly are now loudest in his praise. We had hoped to see, and, at some future day, yet hope to see, his life rounded out as a distinguished member of the greatest legislative body on earth. That he would this, if elected, no man who has followed his career would for one moment doubt or deny."

Lexington Observer: "Thus retires from the politics of the State one of the purest, bravest and most statesmanlike public officials ever honored by the people of this Commonwealth with public trust. Pure in his private life, honorable in every public function, courageous in the discharge of every public duty, he will retire January 1, 1896, to private life, honored by all just men and beloved by those who know him in his inner life and are able to appreciate the exalted virtues that mark a noble character."

KENTUCKY CROPS.

Weather Conditions Very Favorable the Past Week, and the Outlook is Bright.

The weather of the past week was characterized by a temperature considerably in excess of the normal, a nearly average amount of sunshine and frequent thunder storms fairly well distributed. The average amount of rainfall for the State was very near the normal, but was quite unevenly distributed, though rain of greater or less amount fell in nearly all parts of the State. In many of the central and southern counties very heavy local rains are reported, in some instances accompanied by hail and high winds which damaged crops seriously in localities of limited area. An unusual amount of damage to stock and buildings from lightning is also reported.

In some few districts in the northeastern counties drought conditions are still reported, though the principal complaint is of shortness of water for stock and the drying up of pastures, no serious injury of general character to crops being reported. Generally speaking, the conditions described have had a most favorable effect upon all forms of vegetation and the present outlook for the crops which are still unharvested is very promising. The correspondent at Morganfield states that during an extensive trip made by him through the western half of the State he saw the best crop prospects he had seen in years. This statement is substantially true of other sections also.

Wheat threshing has progressed during the week, and but little now remains in the field. The reports relative to the yield continue to range from poor to fair, both as to quantity and quality. The most favorable reports come, as a rule, from the western half of the State, those from the eastern and northern sections generally indicating a poorer crop.

The rains have still further improved the outlook for oats, and the majority of correspondents state that a good yield is anticipated. The greater portion of the crop has been cut, except in the extreme eastern counties, where it is ripening rapidly, and will be ready for cutting this week. Some threshing has been done in the southern and western sections of the State.

Hay cutting was nearly completed during the week, and owing to the recent rains, the yield is generally better than was anticipated some time ago, but is short of the average.

Correspondents in the northeastern counties, where the rainfall has been less than in the others, state that the meadows are very thin and dry, and that they will yield a poor crop.

Correspondents in all parts of the State still report that corn is remarkably fine in appearance and the early crop is now almost assured. For six weeks past the weather conditions have been all that could be desired for its progress, and, as a result, it is in exceptionally fine condition. Some damage was caused by high winds and hail, especially to the more advanced portion of the crop and many fields were badly beaten down or washed out, but the injured was confined mainly to localities of limited area. A great number of reports state that the outlook for the crop is the best seen in many years.

Tobacco was generally improved by the weather conditions of the week, especially that portion which was planted late. It has recovered in most instances from the unevenness which marked its earlier growth, and its present rate of progress will place it beyond the danger of early frosts. Much of the early planted portion of the crop in the southwestern portion of the State has been topped. There are but few exceptions this week to the general reports of the fine condition of the crop.

Garden products of all kinds are reported to be very plentiful and of good quality. The prospects for late Irish potatoes have been greatly improved during the week. A good crop of melons is assured. Hemp is doing well, but in a few localities suffered some damage from wind and hail during the week.

Pastures were improved by the rains of the week, but are still in poor condition, especially those in the eastern counties, where there is much complaint of shortage of grass and in some localities an insufficient supply of water for stock is reported.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—Excitement is still at fever heat over the finding of the body of little Ida Gebhard and the mystery is still unsolved. Yesterday John R. Linson, formerly railroad engineer, who, according to his own account, has been a wanderer all over the world, was arrested for the crime, but an almost complete alibi has been established for him. He was recently released from the Elgin (Ills.) insane hospital and is a morphine fiend.

The postmortem yesterday developed the fact that the child had been horribly cut with a sharp knife after the manner of the London ripper. She was thus mutilated before the assault.

The June earnings came with the annual statement. The gross was $778,511.56, increase $80,190.61; expenses and taxes $503,350.61, increase $42,705.60; net earnings $275,160.93, increase $27,483.30.
